AIRWORTHY AEROSPACE TO EXPAND IN HUDSON

MADISON— Rep. Dean Knudson (R-Hudson) issued the following statement after Airworthy Aerospace Industries Inc. announced plans to expand its business in Hudson, WI.

“I am thrilled with Airworthy’s decision to expand in the Hudson area. The fact that a small company in the St. Croix Valley successfully competes in a global marketplace is no small feat. Companies like Airworthy that choose to invest in their hometowns and create a larger, more skilled workforce are the backbone of our local economy.”

Airworthy Aerospace moved their headquarters to Hudson in 2004 from Minnesota. The expansion will likely triple the company’s capacity and is expected to include the purchase of an existing 73,000 square-foot building and the creation of 45 new positions at the company.
